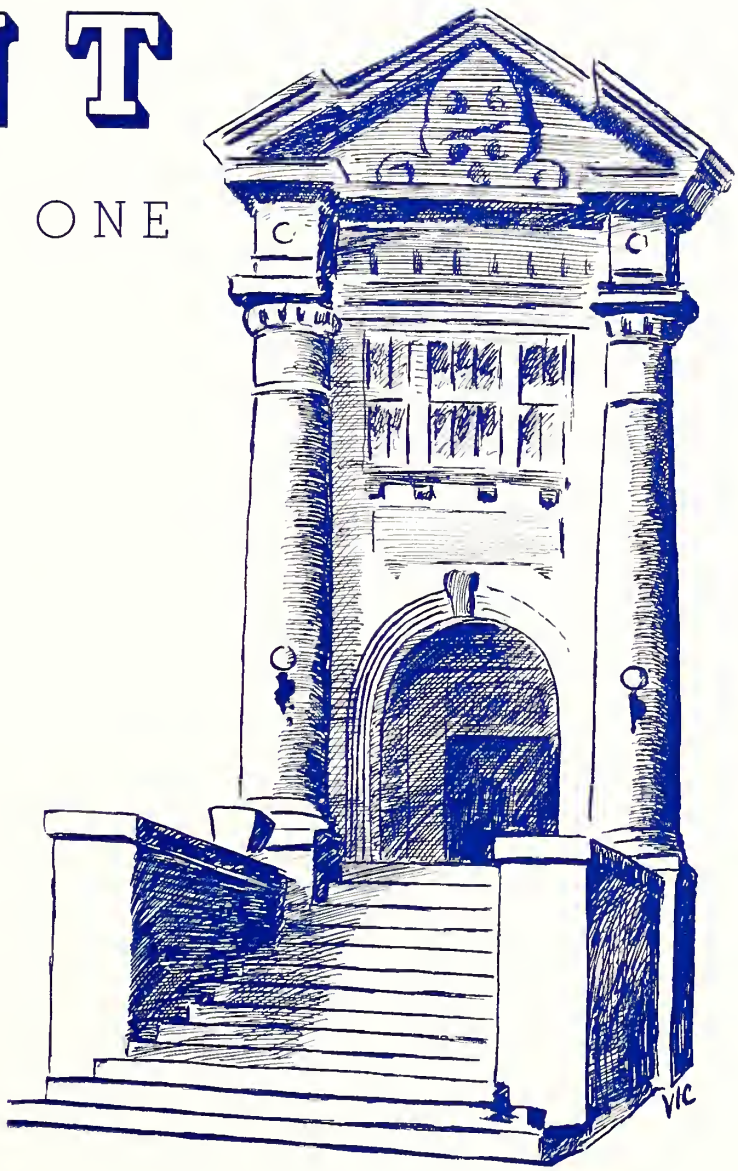
AND FORTY ONE



PREVIEW TO A

The staff of the 1941 Catamount hopes it has created an annual which will be cherished by the students of Potomac State as a reminder of the joyous days spent here. Through the words and pictures on the following pages, we hope this volume will convey a true record of the school's activities, and the accomplishments of her men and women. May the events of the past nine months lose none of their glamour through repetition, and may this annual reflect the true generosity of spirit, and integrity of purpose that dwells within the student body. With a great deal of pride, the editor and staff of the Catamount present this third volume of six books:

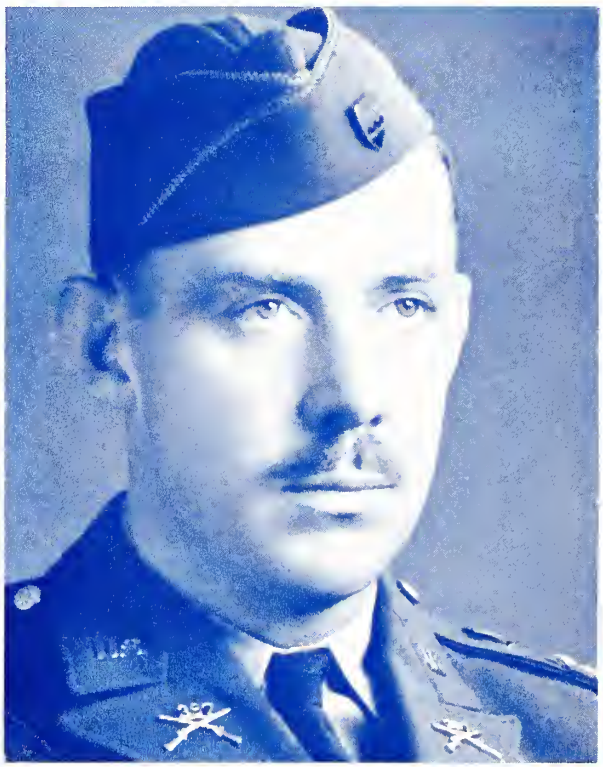
WE HONOR



Service is his byword. Throughout his seven years at Potomac State, his life was filled with service to the student body, as a guide, counselor, and a friend. When the time came, he assumed the task of training draftees for our nation's army. To Captain Robert C. Patterson, we, the class of 1941, dedicate this third volume of the Catamount.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Catamount is no longer an experiment. With the 1941 edition it becomes an institution, an indispensable medium of student expression, an opportunity for creative activity.

We congratulate the staff and its sponsor. You have worked hard and made us work some; but the results achieved provide a satisfying reward. You expected no pay except the appreciation of a grateful school—this we cheerfully give to you. And again our congratulations on a job well done.

DR. E. E. CHURCH, President

DEAN'S MESSAGE

The staff of the 1941 Catamount with the help of their able sponsor has presented us with a yearbook that will be a source of pleasant memories and a record of happy events. It is also a lasting tribute to the ideals, sentiments, and traditions of a congenial and happy college life.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the staff, sponsor, and all those who have joined with them in making this work possible.

IN APPRECIATION

The staff of the Catamount wishes to express its sincere thanks to Mr. David G. Nuzum, for the time and effort he so willingly gave us in the compiling of this third volume. We are also indebted to all those who so graciously donated snapshots which this annual features. The staff also acknowledges its indebtedness to Mr. W. D. Anthony, Melvin Kesecker, James Preaskorn, and Peggy Haught for their willing assistance once the book began to materialize.

To Mr. Eugene Durkin of Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company, who has been so obliging and so careful in his supervision over the mounting of our pictures and our engravings; to Mr. John F. Rose of the Herald Printing Company for his frequent trips to Potomac State to consult us on the printing of the annual; to Mr. George Ruhl, for his excellent cooperation and service in photographic work; and to our advertisers for their patronage, we wish to express our thanks.

For any omissions, if there be any, the staff asks pardon.

The editor wishes also to take this opportunity to thank the staff for its continual cooperative effort.

Social Notes

WITCHES' BALL

On the bleak night of October 25, witches, ghosts, black cats, and goblins took over the Potomac State hill, as Theta Sigma Chi and Eta Upsilon Gamma held their second annual Witches' Ball, the first social function of the school year. Sixty couples danced to the music of Jimmy Andrews and his orchestra. The program featured traditional Halloween figures on its cover, and the hall was decorated in orange and black with a semi-false ceiling. Favors were distributed to all the guests at the ball, which was acclaimed the finest of its type at Potomac State in three years.

HOMECOMING BALL

Climaxing the seventh annual homecoming celebration at Potomac State, the ball held in the gymnasium on the evening of November 8 was by far the largest attended dance on the school social calendar. The Diplomats' Orchestra of Martinsburg played for the affair, which featured the announcement of Miss Catamount II by Norman Wallace, president of Theta Sigma Chi. At intermission, William Keller presented Miss Doris Cochran with a bouquet of yellow roses, her sorority flower, in recognition of her having won the title.

JINGLE BELL HOP

One hundred couples attended the second annual Jingle Bell Hop, sponsored by Phi Sigma Nu and Sigma Epsilon Chi on December 13, 1940; and danced to the music of Reed Raines and his Raindrops. Feature of the evening was the crowning of Miss Betty Oates and Mister Luennis Robinson as the Queen and King of the Winter season. The gymnasium was decorated with a huge supply of green pine, so placed that the hall gave the appearance of a clearing in a huge forest. Santa Claus made his appearance, and presented each woman guest with a small wristlet of ribbon, on which hung three small bells.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Just preceding the Christmas holidays, the students of the two dormitories on the hill assembled in the dining room of Davis Hall on the night of December 17 for their annual Christmas Party. After a delectable meal, served by candlelight, the diners were treated to an entertaining trumpet solo by William Marshall Rogers, accompanied by Mr. Withers. The meal was brought to an hilarious close as the waiters distributed humorous gifts to the faculty members and students.

SHAMROCK SHAG

Honoring Miss Roberta Spangler, the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," the Phi Sigma Nu fraternity and Sigma Epsilon Chi sorority held their second dance of the school year, the Shamrock Shag, on March 22. Amidst green and white decorations, and surrounded by giant Irish shamrocks, Jack Platt and his Blue and White Orchestra played for the dancing couples. Following the eighth dance, Miss Spangler was introduced, to those in attendance, as the "Sweetheart" by Dean Kirkland S. McKee. The selection of the one to receive the honor was determined by a school wide poll.

THETA SPRING FORMAL

Theta Sigma Chi held its annual Spring Formal on April 18 in the college gym. The dance honored Miss Marjorie White, who was selected by the faculty to represent Potomac State at the eighteenth annual Winchester Apple Blossom Festival May 1 and 2. John Laughlin and his orchestra played for the occasion. The hall was novelly decorated to represent a ship's ballroom, and as the guests entered onto the floor, they climbed the gangplang, at the end of which they were greeted by a sailor who presented them their programs. The programs were patterned after a ship's log book. The affair was the most successful fraternity dance of the school year.

Members of the Court—WILLIAM STARFORD, PATRICK CROGAN, STANFORD FERTIG, CHARLES GARRETT, HOWARD LYONS, JOHN MANCHION, MARY BLACKBURN, BETTY ANNE OATES, EDITH SHANNON, ROBERTA SPANGLER, HELEN WHEELER, MARY LEAH JUDY

Each year it has been the annual tradition at Potomac State for the student body to elect a May Court. The coronation and festivities were held on May 9.

The Players, under the direction of Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, gave a dramatization, while the Singers, directed by Mr. Leonard Withers, contributed several beautiful vocal selections. Miss Jane Hesse directed the Women's Athletic Association in a colorful May Pole dance. Eighteen neighboring high schools were invited to send a boy and a girl representative to participate in the ceremony. The evening following the coronation, a colorful Queen's Ball was held in the gymnasium, with music by the Diplomats of Martinsburg.

Eta Upsilon Gamma, whose objectives are promotion of scholarship, philanthropy, widening of social life of its members, and the emphasis of friendship throughout college life, was founded at Christian College, Missouri, 1901. Omega Chapter was started at Potomac State in 1901 and is the only national organization on the campus.

The Gammas welcomed Miss Verna Riley to replace Mrs. Roberta Muller, who was their former sponsor. Miss Riley and Mary Virginia Gibson were initiated into the sorority in September. In October the rushees were entertained by a progressive "hobo" party at which the actives entertained with a minstrel show, wiener roast, and the introduction to the objectives and activities of the sorority.

On December 2, 1940, Agnes Richmond received the Gamma Scholarship Pin with an average of 2.56.

The sorority prepared Christmas baskets for needy families in Keyser. They sold badges, aiding in a campaign to raise money for children crippled by infantile paralysis. Another means of raising money for this charity was by entering a tournament of the Greek organizations of the campus, this sorority winning over the Sigmas.

"Hell Week" began March 17, 1941. The rules included wearing vegetables in the hair and carrying a bunch of spring onions which upon request of an active the pledge ate.

This group enjoyed swimming, hikes, bicycling, parties, and various other activities together.

The oldest sorority at Potomac State, Sigma Epsilon Chi, was organized on October 10, 1923. Although it is local at the present time, for several years the organization was the Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Iota Chi, a national junior college sorority.

The purpose of the organization is to draw a group of congenial girls together by bonds slightly closer and more binding than those of ordinary friendship. It aims to carry on true sisterhood by unselfishness and consideration of others. It encourages the highest standards of morality and mentality; the members try to attain that perfection of character which typifies perfect womanhood. They are instructed in tolerance, amiability, kindness, and fraternal love for their associates. By these ideals, Sigma strives not only for a better sorority, but for a better college.

Miss Jane Homan was awarded the Sigma Scholarship Pin for the highest average at the end of the first semester. This is an innovation which will be carried on in future years.

This year Sigma Epsilon Chi, with Phi Sigma Nu, sponsored the Christmas dance, the second annual "Jingle Bell Hop," and the first spring dance, the "Shamrock Shag." Miss Betty Oates was crowned Queen of Winter, and Miss Roberta Spangler was chosen by popular election to be the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. A tea was given in March for the new members, patronesses, and alumnae. Various picnics, slumber parties, and a private dance were held during the year. The graduating members were entertained by the sorority at the end of the school term.

The Phi Sigma Nu Fraternity was originally a national junior college organization which was later disbanded. Phi Sigma Nu is now well known on the campus as a local social fraternity.

Several highlights of the year which will be remembered as synonomous with "Phi Sigs" are the "Jingle Bell Hop," and the "Shamrock Shag."

The fraternity holds and demands certain requirements, such as scholastic achievement, high moral standards, a better college spirit, and a greater interest in all school activities. It also strives to promote better relations between college students as a whole and to establish a life-long bond of friendship between its members.

Ever since its organization in the school year of 1922-23, Theta Sigma Chi has been an important organization on the Potomac State campus. The members of this social order have long played an important part in all activities of the school. Scholastically, the frat has gained permanent possession of two of the Dean's Scholarship Cups, and holds two legs on a third.

Socially, the frat had a very successful season. The Annual Witches Ball, held in October, was proclaimed to surpass all of its predecessors. In April, the Annual Spring Formal was held, honoring Miss Marjorie White, the Winchester Apple Blossom Princess. As part of the homecoming celebration the fraternity held the election of Miss Catamount II, with Miss Doris Cochran winning the honor. She was presented with a huge bouquet, symbolic of the honor bestowed on her, at the Homecoming Ball.

This year's group decided early in the year that they desired to contribute something to beautify State's campus, something that would stand as a monument to the Theta's. Out of this desire grew a movement for a flag pole, which was erected in time for the May Day festivities.

Several members of Theta Sigma Chi hold various important offices on the campus. Among those held are: President of the Student Council; President of the Sophomore Class; President of the Freshman Class; six seats on the Student Council; four members of the Social Committee; Editor, News Editor, and Sports Editor of the Pasquino; Editor and Business Manager of the Catamount; and four laboratory assistants. The frat also boasts the third ranking collegiate orator in West Virginia.

Year after year, the Theta Sigma Chi fraternity goes on, producing the leaders on the Potomac State campus, men who have carried with them through life the order's high ideals, as they win prominent places in the outside world.

The Student Council, which is under the supervision of the Faculty, is the official governing organization of the Student Body. The Council directs student activities, promotes school spirit, and strives for a better understanding between pupil and instructor.

During Freshman Week the Council served as guides and aides in the general activities to acquaint the new students with the campus. Other projects included publication of football programs for the Glenville, St. Francis, Blue Ridge, and Shepherd College football games, and sponsorship of the colorful Homecoming Ball.

Selection and enforcement of Freshman Rules was delegated to the Council. A Council Court was established to mete out punishment to freshmen for failing to wear "Dinks" and for infraction of other rules. This year the Council presented thirty-one certificates of Athletic Award, twenty-five letters, and four sweaters to athletes who represented Potomac State on the gridiron and the basketball court.

The Council concluded its activities of the year by sponsoring the May Queen election, by extending invitations to high schools to participate in the May fete, and by giving in cooperation with Pan-Hellenic the May Day Dance honoring Miss Elnora Robinson as May Queen and Luennis Robinson as Escort.

The Pan-Hellenic, or inter-fraternity council, is the governing body of all the Greek social organizations on the campus. The council serves to promote participation in fraternal activities, and as a central bank for the Greek orders.

Each year the group sponsors the annual Christmas celebration, this year sponsoring the Players holiday production.

HOME ECON

Membership in the Home Economics Club is based purely on interests and consists of those students participating in the courses of food, clothing, and interior decorating. The activities of both the department and the club have grown greatly in the past four years, increasing in membership from one major to the present enrollment of twenty-seven.

The club, as its major project for the present year, has sponsored a "Discussion Group," which has been open to both men and women students. The purpose of these discussions has been to bring about a mutual understanding of problems which are of vital interest to campus life.

Hand in hand with the Discussion Group activity has been a series of parties and dances, both formal and square, which have been planned for the benefit of those students who remain on the campus for the week-ends.

The clothing class with the assistance of the members of the foods class has been actively engaged in redecorating the reception rooms of various campus buildings.

The foods class, consisting of three units, has been participating in a series of baking projects. As a present project each unit is serving a breakfast, luncheon, and dinner to members of one other unit and several members of the faculty. The budget for these menus is limited and gives excellent planning experience.

A Christmas dinner, and a dinner to the judges and contestants of the American Legion Oratorical Contest, were prepared and served by the foods class, with the art class furnishing appropriate decorations for the dining room.

The Folio Book Club was organized in the spring of 1939 under the direction of Miss Mary Shipper, librarian. The aims of the club were to stimulate the interest in popular books and to entertain literary-minded students.

During its two and one-half years of organization, the club has enjoyed many worthwhile activities. Among those have been hearing Carl Sandburg review his book Abraham Lincoln, attending screen versions of books, and at each meeting having some interesting speaker or author review a recent book. During Book Week this year, the club presented an entertaining program in Assembly, with the aid of Mr. David G. Nuzum.

Social activities enjoyed by the members included an outdoor picnic in October in honor of the new members, and a spring outing to close the activities for the year.

Organized in 1931, the Engineers' Club has been continued every year since that time. The main purpose of the club is to acquaint the engineering students with the ideas and different fields of engineering. To accomplish this objective, several practicing engineers have spoken to the organization. Being the only professional club on the campus, many of its members have won distinction in several different fields.

The club is represented by several of its members who have attained a high scholastic standing on the campus.

Inspection trips were made which were very interesting and instructive. To close the school term and the club's activities, the members enjoyed the annual picnic in May.

COUNTRY

On May 26, 1925, the Country Life Club at Potomac State was organized, in connection with the Education Department. The club is affiliated with the American Association of Country Life Clubs.

The objects of the club are to promote a social feeling among its members, study the problems of country life, and increase the fitness of its members for rural service. The activities of the club center around community service.

Among the social activities of the club during the past year have been the annual picnic, parties, and several luncheons. At the meetings different speakers gave the club members interesting information on subjects relating to rural service.

The officers of the club are: President, Ruth Barbe; vice-president, Marguerite Weese; secretary, Bertha Heck; treasurer, Irene Deets; sponsor, Miss Jane Hesse.

DEBATE CLUB

For the second successive year, Potomac State's Debate Club made an excellent showing in all of its encounters. Debating against four year colleges, the group won over half of its contests. The teams were entered in the Shepherdstown and Shippensburg tournaments; held radio debates with Shepherd State, and West Liberty; and participated in the annual Speech Festival at Marshall College. The season was brought to a climax with a banquet in March, given the club by the Yeomen of Keyser. Graduating are four members of the club: William Keller, president; Betty Oates, secretary; Victor Kalbaugh, and James Getty. Only Robert Doak remains as a nucleus for next year's team.

Much of the credit for the fine showing of the group should be given to the club's sponsors: Dean K. S. McKee, Mr. E. L. Dayton, Dr. C. W. Bolen, and Mr. W. D. Anthony.

The oldest cultural organization on the campus, the Potomac State Players were organized first in 1919. They opened their year's activities with "A Modern Thanksgiving," given just before the holidays in assembly. This was followed by "Just What They Wanted," and "The Bright Side," presented as part of the Christmas celebration under the sponsorship of Pan-Hellenic. In the club's second assembly of the year, they presented "Before the Curtain Rises," and "The Man in the Black Domino." The climax of the season's activity came with the participation of the Players in the May Day and Commencement exercises.

The officers of the club are: President, Phyllis Davis; vice-president, Nelva Jean Rafter; secretary, Muriel Fisher; faculty advisor, Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater.

The members are: Ruth Barbe, Sylvia Black, Jack Beebe, Betty Jo Bonafield, Berdell Bishoff, Alice Branson, Delmar Burns, Doris Cochran, Jean Copeman, Phyllis Davis, Jean Eye, Muriel Fisher, Walter Frederick, Paul Frye, James Getty, Dorothy Hamill, Marjorie Heishman, Rita Hulstine, Mary Judy, John Lanham, Tom Newcome, Nelva Jean Rafter, Carrie Sinsel, Ethna Snider, Rachel Springer, Bob Watson, Marjorie White, Virginia Judy, Margaret Murray, Sam Widmer, Mike Brophy, George Neill, Frank Kimmell, Betty Kerr, Joan Kimmell, Jack Berry and Edith Newlon.

Under the direction of Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, The Potomac State Pasquino, published fortnightly, completed its twenty-second year of publication this spring. The staff attempted to give a true picture of life at Potomac State throughout the year, and to give public expression to the best interests of the school and the student body. The paper was printed at the Mineral Daily News-Tribune plant, under the direction of the members of the staff.

Highlights of the year were: the West Virginia Interscholastic Press Association Convention at Elkins in December, to which Potomac State sent six delegates; and the annual Press Banquet, held in May.

Under the direction of a new faculty advisor, Mr. David G. Nuzum, a meeting was held for all aspirants to the Catamount staff early in November. A few weeks later, positions were appointed, and a subscription campaign launched.

Once assured of the sale of the books, the staff set to work securing advertisements, and the goal was reached, and then topped. This enabled the staff to secure sixteen additional pages for the annual, and also many more snapshots.

Through the wholehearted cooperation of the faculty and the student body with the staff, the 1941 Catamount left the press in the latter part of May.

Under the direction of Mr. Leonard G. Withers, the Potomac State Singers completed another successful year of work. During the winter, the Singers presented a cantata, A Christmas Story, with Clara Spotts, Agnes Parrish, Mary Critchfield, Victor Kalbaugh, and Robert Watson as soloists. Other programs consisting of Gloria Patri, Finlandia, and Send Forth Thy Light were given in the churches of Keyser.

In the spring, the Potomac Singers made a tour of twenty-one high schools. The longest trip for the entire group was a three day journey to Parkersburg; the double quartet visited Moorefield, Franklin, Petersburg, and Circleville.

The glee club was increased by six members.

The final appearance of the Potomac Singers was at the graduation and baccalaureate services for the graduates of Potomac State School.

Sigma Phi Omega, Potomac State's Honor Society, was established in 1923 for the purpose of granting recognition to those students who distinguished themselves in scholastic attainments and school activities. Since its founding, the organization has flourished until today membership in Sigma Phi Omega is regarded as one of the highest honors to be attained on the Potomac State Campus.

In May, 1940, the faculty chose and the society formally initiated the following persons: Jack Alexander, Louise Cook, Jean Copeman, Hugh Dean, Carl Dumire, Muriel Fisher, Charlotte Geldbaugh, Ellen Harwood, Gertrude Heare, Bertha Heck, Betty Hoag, Warren Hull, Robert Lewis, Charles Maier, Norman Mason, Betty Oates, Paul Putzek, Elnora Robinson, Luennis Robinson, James Scott and Cecil Stemple.

Betty Jo Bonafield and Phyllis Davis likewise accepted the fraternal ritual in November.

This year Sigma Phi Omega has been singularly active, putting into execution several new projects. As an outgrowth of its Recognition Day Program, presented in assembly last May and which will be made an annual presentation, a companion program, Know Your Organizations, was given at one of the first convocations of the current year. As the Recognition Ceremony bestows honor upon worthy students, so the Know Your Organizations Program introduces all the clubs and societies on the campus to the new students.

Recently the society formally adopted and will proudly wear its new key, designed by the President, James Scott, to symbolize the standards and ideals of Sigma Phi Omega.

The climax of the year's activities was the annual formal banquet in which both student and faculty members joined in honoring the new members and in bringing an outstanding guest-speaker to the campus.

Beginning a season which was to prove a very unsuccessful one, Coach Dana G. Lough's Catamounts met Morris Harvey at Charleston on September 21, and lost their opener 20-2. The following week, the Staters opened their home schedule against a small, but efficient Blue Ridge eleven, and went down to defeat again, 12-2. Then followed losses to Waynesburg, Saint Francis, Mt. Saint Mary's, and Glenville, even though the Loughmen showed plenty of fight and drive, they just couldn't seem to win. After a scoreless first half, Concord rose up and crushed the Cats 26-0.

Highlight of the season was the annual Homecoming game, played against Shepherd State, in which the Catamounts showed off to advantage before the ole grads, by trouncing the visitors 41-0. The following week, the season was brought to a close with an 18-0 loss to West Liberty, on an icy field.

Outstanding individual games during the season were turned in by Captain Bill Starford, who alternated at end, center, and quarterback; and Bob Kight, co-captain, and fullback. In addition to the co-captains, those graduating from the squad are: Haines Jones, guard; Virgil Barr, guard; Kenneth Bolyard, tackle; and Delmar Burns, guard.

Playing through a twenty-game schedule, one of the toughest ever played by a State squad, this year's Catamounts won six and lost fifteen games during the regular cage season.

Time after time, in the waning seconds of the game, the Cats were nosed out by a three or four point margin, after having dominated the play throughout the better half of the contest. During the latter part of the season the Loughmen played .500 ball.

Two games highlighted the Cats' home schedule during the past season. The first was the appearance of Kenneth Griffith, the nation's high scorer, with the Alderson Broaddus team. The largest crowd of the season attended this game to watch the sensational performer. Griffith scored eighteen points, and was instrumental in the defeat of State. The second highlight was the return game with Frostburg State Teachers' College, which had to go into an extra period before the Loughmen finally won out 42-41. Dave Hardman, freshman forward, scored half of State's points in this contest.

The Cats were entered in the state college tournament at Buckhannon at the close of the regular season, and were defeated by the defending champions, West Virginia Wesleyan, 60-35, in the first round.

Individual honors for the year went to Captain Bill Starford, who was chosen on the third all-state team at guard. Bill, one of the most aggressive players ever to don a State uniform, was high scorer for the team, and a bulwark on the defense. For his outstanding contribution to Potomac's athletic record, he was given a special award by the athletic committee.

The only player to graduate from the squad, in addition to Starford, is Norman Mason; leaving Pat Crogan, Eddie Spear, Jack O'Neill, Frank Yeakle, Mike Yewcic, and Dave Hardman as a strong lineup of returning veterans.
